

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Critical A.I. Literacy Collective invites WWU faculty, staff, and students to a town-hall style meeting and reception on Wednesday, May 20 in CF 120 to share your ideas for the future, build community, and enjoy some much needed refreshments.

The CALC steering committee will briefly recap the first five events we organized and other initiatives we pursued in the 2025-2026 academic year, but the majority of the time will be dedicated listening to ideas from the audience about future directions in critical A.I. literacies.

Some guiding questions include:

- What is one thing you learned about the impacts of corporate A.I. products on our campus and beyond that you're still thinking about/asking questions about? Why?
- What values are the most important to you for understanding and responding to the impacts of corporate A.I. products on our campus and beyond?
- What kinds of knowledge and skills in critical A.I. literacies would you like to build in the coming year, and what kinds of events or activities would you like to participate in?

The town-hall style meeting will be followed by a reception with food from 5-6PM to make new connections and to celebrate the year's accomplishments.
